Behaviour and Responsibility

All leaders will treat children with love and respect, and they expect the same in return. Leaders expect children to behave acceptably (depending on age), and as they get older to take increasing responsibility for their actions and possessions.

Photographs and video

Photographs and video are sometimes taken during church activities. Images are used:

- to help children have good memories of church activities
- in videos or slide shows for use in church events (e.g. Sunday services)
- for publicity purposes, including on the church website and related social media

The Overflow Church is committed to safe practice when dealing with images of children. No names or any other personal information, which could enable identification of a child, are used. The use of images is subject to The Overflow Church's Safeguarding Policy and relevant Individual Group Policies, which provide safeguards against misuse of the images. Images are securely stored and password-protected, subject to the legal requirements of the Data Protection Act (1998) and in accordance to our GDPR policy.

If you do not want photographs and video to be stored and used in this way please tick the box below. It is not possible to opt out of only some uses of photographs and video because of the practical difficulties this causes for those using material in church publicity contexts.

COMMUNICATING WITH YOUNG PEOPLE

For primary school children we will contact parents/carers with the relevant information via email, text or letters using the information provided on the 1st page.

FOR HIGH SCHOOL CHILDREN ONLY

I consent to youth leaders communicating with my child (e.g. about group meeting times) via phone, SMS, email or social media, subject to The Overflow Church's Safeguarding Policy. These forms of communication will be monitored by our Youth Workers and Associate Leader.

I give permission for youth leaders to communicate with my child using (tick all apply):
